

The Foundation for Pavement Preservation is committed to provide resources to advance knowledge for managing and preserving pavement. In supporting research to educate government and industry professionals about the advantages of pavement preservation, we work with the premier members of the pavement preservation industry. This ranges from contractors to material suppliers, from equipment manufacturers to consulting engineers, and from academia. The partners in this Journal are The Foundation, The National Center for Pavement Preservation, The Texas Pavement Preservation Center, The California Pavement Preservation Center, The Midwest, Northeastern, Southeastern Pavement Preservation Partnerships and future Partnerships being formed.

To further enhance these partnerships, we are partnering with Naylor, LLC, recognizing the company's 38 years of experience with trade publications, to produce The Pavement Preservation Journal. We are confident the professionals at Naylor will provide us with a top quality publication and enhance the growing awareness and adoption of pavement preservation nationwide.

We are very excited that the first issue of The Pavement Preservation Journal is now open for advertising opportunities. This quarterly magazine will provide members with the information and industry trends needed to help your business grow.

A representative from Naylor will be contacting you, so please consider allocating a portion of your budget to this advertising opportunity. For more information on advertising, please contact Paul Walley, 800-369-6220 ext. 3462 or pwalley@naylor.com.
